

BUY CARBON OFFSETS WHEN YOU FLY

Flying takes a lot of energy, full stop. If possible, it might be better to pile the family in the car and drive to your destination. But we can't always do that. Many airlines offer carbon offsets when purchasing airline tickets. If yours doesn't, check out this article in Treehugger.com for additional ways that you can buy offsets for your airline travel. You can also check certifier Green-e to find a responsible offsetter.
